- 17.5. Rejection of a Bid for performance shall be approved by the appropriate Department Head and the Chief Administrative Officer (CAO).

18. Bid Evaluation Committee

A Bid Evaluation Committee shall be established and be comprised of, at a minimum, the following members of the Township's personnel:

- 18.1.1. the Department Head who is responsible for the Call For Bids in question; and
 - 18.1.2. the Direct Report Manager to the Department Head who is responsible for the Call For Bids in question; and
 - 18.1.3. a Director of Finance who is not responsible for the Call For Bids in question for projects anticipated to exceed one hundred thousand dollars (>$100,000).
- 18.2. If a Bid contains an informality or irregularity, or if there is a challenge to the Call For Bids process, the issue shall be referred to the Bid Evaluation Committee to determine whether the Bid complies with the submission requirements set out in the Call For Bids or to determine the validity of the challenge.
 - 18.3. If the Bid Evaluation Committee does not agree unanimously that the Bid shall be accepted or rejected, for projects that exceed one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), a report shall be prepared for submission to Council setting out the nature of the informality, irregularity or challenge and the proposed action to be taken. For projects that exceed fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) but do not exceed one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), the matter will be deferred to the Chief Administrative Officer for decision.

19. Tie Bids

- 19.1. Tie Bids are those that are identical in price where the price is the determining factor. Tie Bids shall be treated by attempting to identify qualitative factors between the Bids that may generate a benefit to the Township from one Bidder and not the other(s). Such factors include, but are not limited to, the following:
 - 19.1.1. Will an earlier proposed delivery date for the goods, services or construction provide a benefit to the Township;
 - 19.1.2. Does one Bidder have a proven track record of contracting with the Township that can legitimately justify giving such a Bidder additional consideration?;
 - 19.1.3. Does one Bidder's Bid show that such a Bidder is prepared to assume a higher level of responsibility?;
 - 19.1.4. Is there a difference in the quality of the goods, services or construction proposed to be provided by the Bidders?
 - 19.1.5. Are there any value added items included in the bid?
- 19.2. Where the Bids are equal in every respect, the Township shall attempt to split the Award between the Bidders, provided that doing so is in the best interest of the Township.
- 19.3. Where the Bids are equal in every respect and where splitting the Award would not be in the best interest of the Township, the Township may use one of the following methods, based upon the specific circumstances:
 - 19.3.1. Use a coin toss to select the successful Bidder;
 - 19.3.2. Request that the tied Bidders submit new Bids; or

- 21.3. The Chief Administrative Officer shall have the authority to transfer such surplus stock from one department to another, to sell or dispose of such surplus stock, to exchange or trade the same for replacement Goods, or to offer the surplus assets to other public funded bodies.
- 21.4. Where surplus stock is offered to a Township department, or other public funded body, but is not accepted by such department or such public funded body, and exceeds a residual value of $1,000, it shall be disposed of by means of public auction or advertised for public Tender and sold to the Bidder submitting the highest priced Bid.

Township of Scugog

Reference Guide: Meeting Accessibility Obligations in Procurement

The Corporation of the Township of Scugog is committed to providing an accessible environment in which residents, visitors and employees have equitable access to municipal programs, services and facilities in a way that respects the dignity and independence of each individual. The municipality is dedicated to ensuring that all legislated obligations under the Accessibility for Ontarians Disabilities Act are met and that compliance with these standards is maintained.

In addition to Scugog’s commitment, the Government of Ontario has passed legislation including the Ontario Human Rights Code, the Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2001, and the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005 and its regulations. These pieces of legislation include accessibility obligations that apply to the procurement of all goods, services and facilities regardless of value.

Legislation	Accessibility Obligation(s) in Purchase
Ontario Human Rights Code	All persons with disabilities have the right to equal treatment in employment, services, goods, facilities, housing, contracts and membership in trade and vocational associations. The Township of Scugog has a duty, as an employer and as a service provider, to ensure people with disabilities are accommodated.
Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2001	Section 5 states that in deciding to purchase goods or services through the purchasing process for the use of itself, its employees or the public, the Township of Scugog “shall have regard to the accessibility for persons with disabilities to the goods or services”.
Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005 and its regulations	Section 5 of the Integrated Accessibility Standards Regulation, Ontario Regulation 191/11 states that the Township of Scugog “shall incorporate accessibility criteria and features when purchasing or acquiring goods, services or facilities, except where it is not practicable to do so” and if the Township of Scugog “determines that it is not practicable to incorporate accessibility criteria and features when purchasing or acquiring goods, services or facilities, it shall provide, upon request, an explanation”. Section 6 of the Integrated Accessibility Standards Regulation, Ontario Regulation 191/11 states that “without limiting the generality of Section 5, [the Township of Scugog]...shall incorporate accessibility features when designing, purchasing or acquiring self-service kiosks”.

Schedule F to By-Law 41-21

In order to meet their accessibility obligations in procurement-related activities, Township departments / divisions should consider three key questions:

- What are the barriers that people with disabilities might face in trying to use the goods, services or facilities you are planning to acquire?
- What are the appropriate accessibility design, criteria and features that can be incorporated into the procurement process?
- How can these criteria and features be incorporated?

The following steps should assist you in answering these questions.

Step 1:

I have reviewed the definitions of “disability”, “barrier” and “accessibility”.

As defined in the Ontario Human Rights Code, Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2001 and the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005:

“Disability” means,

- (a) Any degree of physical disability, infirmity, malformation or disfigurement that is caused by bodily injury, birth defect or illness and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, includes diabetes mellitus, epilepsy, a brain injury, any degree of paralysis, amputation, lack of physical co-ordination, blindness or visual impediment, deafness or hearing impediment, muteness or speech impediment, or physical reliance on a guide dog or other animal or on a wheelchair or other remedial appliance or device,
- (b) a condition of mental impairment or a developmental disability,
- (c) a learning disability, or a dysfunction in one or more of the processes involved in understanding or using symbols or spoken language,
- (d) a mental disorder, or
- (e) an injury or disability for which benefits were claimed or received under the insurance plan established under the Workplace Safety and Insurance Act, 1997; (“handicap”).

As defined in the Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2001 and the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005:

“Barrier” means,

Anything that prevents a person with a disability from fully participating in all aspects of society because of his or her disability, including a physical barrier, an architectural barrier, an information or communications barrier, an attitudinal barrier, a technological barrier, a policy or a practice.

As defined by the Province of Ontario:

“Accessibility” means, giving people of all abilities opportunities to participate fully in everyday life.

Step 2:

I have taken into consideration: Independence, Dignity, Equality and Integration in the Accessibility design, criteria and features of the proposed goods, services or facilities, whether they are for members of the public or Township employees.

In order to ensure that the goods, services or facilities you intend to purchase will deliver the desired benefits to all potential users, determine whether it could create barriers for people with disabilities. The Accessibility Directorate of Ontario has listed five broad categories of barriers which may help you identify existing and potential barriers that you might not otherwise have considered. These categories are as follows:

Category of Barrier	Examples
Attitudinal barriers are those that discriminate against people with disabilities.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • thinking that people with disabilities are inferior • assuming that a person who has a speech impairment cannot understand you
Information or communications barriers happen when a person cannot easily understand information.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • print is too small to read • websites that cannot be accessed by people who are not able to use a mouse • signs that are not clear or easily understood.
Technology barriers occur when a technology cannot be modified to support various assistive devices.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a website that does not support screen-reading software
Organizational barriers are an organization's policies, practices or procedures that discriminate against people with disabilities.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a hiring process that is not open to people with disabilities
Architectural and physical barriers are features of buildings or spaces that cause problems for people with disabilities.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • hallways and doorways that are too narrow for a person using a wheelchair, electric scooter or walker • counters that are too high for a person of short stature • poor lighting for people with low vision • doorknobs that are difficult for people with arthritis to grasp • parking spaces that are too narrow for a driver who uses a wheelchair • telephones that are not equipped with telecommunications devices for people who are Deaf, deafened or hard of hearing

Purchasing of goods or services for members of the public

If members of the public will be making use of the goods, services or facilities you are planning to acquire, it is likely that many of them will be people with disabilities. Currently, 15.5% of the population are people with disabilities, and this number is likely to grow to 20% in the next few years with the aging of our population.

Goods, services or facilities that will be used by the public will require that accessibility features be integrated into their design and implementation to ensure that people with disabilities can make use of them.

For example:

- In acquiring or deploying public access kiosks and point of sale devices, the ability of a person in a wheelchair or scooter to use the services could be limited if the keypad is not situated properly. If the keypad buttons are not in Braille, or if the terminal only includes touch-screen technology, a person with a visual impairment would not be able to access the services provided.
- When installing washroom facilities, assess whether a person who uses personal support services (such as attendant services) would be able to use the washroom comfortably with his or her attendant in a unisex or family washroom.

As set out in the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005, Accessibility Standards for Customer Service Regulation, Ontario Regulation 429/07, customers with disabilities must be accommodated when providing them with goods and services.

When acquiring services for the public from an external provider, the purchasing document should specify that the vendor needs to ensure that its staff are trained in customer service for people with disabilities and are able to interact and deliver these services appropriately.

Purchasing of goods or services for Township employees

In addition, Township employees with disabilities may need to be accommodated in the workplace and in the provision of goods, services or facilities. Township employees may require specific accommodations to ensure that they are able to carry out their work without encountering barriers. This may include the purchasing of accessible workspaces or equipment modifications, the provision of assistive devices, and access to touch or voice activated equipment. Meeting accessibility obligations for goods, services or facilities requires specifications that include options for various types of disabilities and are open to individual accommodation needs.

For example:

- In purchasing or installing a photocopier, you should assess whether the display screen and function keys may need to be used by a person who is blind or has low vision. You might also want to determine whether the height of the photocopier can easily be reached by someone using a wheelchair or scooter.
- In purchasing telephones, you might want to assess whether the equipment requires volume controls, clear display screens and large buttons in order to make the telephones as accessible to as many users as possible.

Schedule F to By-Law 41-21

Purchasing accessible goods, services or facilities is usually more economical than restructuring the goods, services or facilities to meet accessibility criteria afterward. If the purchasing of goods, services or facilities is for use by Township employees, be sure to review the Township's policies and procedures on accommodating employees with disabilities.

Step 3:

The good(s), service(s) or facility(s) procured do not pose a barrier for people with disabilities.

Ask questions such as, but not limited to:

Goods:

- Can the goods be used by someone in a seated position?
- Can the goods be used by someone with one hand, with limited upper body strength, or limited fine motor skills?
- Can the goods be used by someone with vision loss or low vision?
- Can the goods be used by someone with hearing loss?
- Can the goods be used by someone with a learning or developmental disability?
- Are support materials, such as manuals, training or service calls, available in accessible formats at no additional charge?

Services:

- Has the service provider completed training in accessible customer service as required in the Accessible Customer Service Standards under the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act ("AODA")?
- Can the service provider accommodate the needs of people with various types of disabilities? For example, do their presentations accommodate people with different types of disabilities?
- Will the service provider supply alternative formats, upon request?
- Will the service provider comply with the Township's Accessibility standards for administrative documents?

Facilities:

- Can someone using a mobility aid, such as a wheelchair or walker, get around the facility?
- Does signage have high contrast of at least 70% and is it placed at an accessible height?
- Does the facility have emergency procedures to assist people with disabilities?

Schedule F to By-Law 41-21

The level of detail in purchasing documents may vary based on the nature of the acquisition. You may wish to include the following information:

- A description of the need to provide accessible goods, services or facilities currently and in the future.

For example –

When acquiring the services of a facilitator or consultant to conduct a public meeting, ensure that the location for the meeting is wheelchair accessible. Consider whether sign language interpretation and alternate format materials, or other accommodations are required to enable the full participation of all attendees.

When acquiring computers, or other desktop equipment, consider whether the system has the capacity for adaptive technology upgrades such as speech reading and voice activated software or large fonts.

- The outcome of public consultations conducted by the Township.

Consulting with community agencies that provide services for people with disabilities may give you information on accessibility needs, which may be helpful in planning services and accommodations. Keep in mind, however, that individuals often have unique accommodation needs which can best be determined by consulting with them directly.
- The results of market research.

Market research may help you determine the capability of vendors to provide accessible goods, services or facilities to people with disabilities and confirm the nature of the accessibility specifications and requirements that should be included in purchasing documents.

For example, gathering information from health and safety associations on the type and availability of suppliers to provide ergonomic goods and services could support decisions about purchasing office-related equipment that is universally accessible to a broad range of people.
- An analysis of possible purchasing strategies and options for acquiring and deploying accessible goods or services, including the associated cost/benefit analysis.

For example, reviewing the different approaches for communicating with individuals who are deaf or hard of hearing or who have speech impairments could help support a purchasing decision.

If you determine that it is not practicable to incorporate accessibility criteria and features in your purchase, you will be asked to provide an explanation. Include this information on the completed checklist for your purchase and retain the completed checklist in your department's purchasing file.

Staff Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) – Accessibility and Procurement

1. Do the accessibility obligations apply to the procurement of all goods, services and facilities?

Yes. The accessibility obligations apply to the acquisition of all goods, services, and facilities regardless of value.

2. What do you mean by “accessibility” when it comes to the procurement of goods, services or facilities?

Generally speaking, “accessibility” is a term used to describe the degree of ease that something (e.g. device, service, environment) can be used and enjoyed by persons with a disability.

The term includes conscious planning, design and/or effort to ensure it is barrier-free to persons with a disability and highly usable and practical for the general population as well.

The Government of Ontario has passed legislation including the Ontario Human Rights Code, Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2001, and the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005 and its regulations that include accessibility obligations that apply to the acquisition of all goods and services.

3. What are Accessibility criteria and features?

When you procure goods, services and facilities, you consider criteria to make your decision, such as quality, cost and timing. Now you need to make accessibility design and features part of your criteria, where possible.

Here are some examples:

- Accessibility criteria — you need a food service provider for an event. Does the company you are considering train their staff on providing accessible service?
- Technical features — you are planning to buy new software. Does it have accessibility features so that people with disabilities can use it?
- Structural features — you are looking for a location to host your annual meeting. Can the facility you are considering accommodate people with disabilities?

4. Do I have to apply accessible criteria to goods used by individual employees?

Yes, unless it is not practicable to do so. It is important to take into consideration the possibility that the employee using the procured good may acquire a disability, or a person with a disability may later use said good.

For example: In procurement telephones, you might want to assess whether the equipment has volume controls, clear display screens, and large buttons in order to make the telephones as accessible to as many users as possible. While the original user of the phone may not have a disability, the phone may be used by several different employees over the period of a few years.
